EXPERIENCE

Bodek & Rhodes // Full Time freelance retoucher + color correction, video editing
Oct 2013 - Oct 2016 | Philadelphia, PA
Bodekandrhomdes.com / Fashion & apparel distributor

As one of two in house Photo Retouchers I was responsible for processing hundreds of Hi-Res images per week for use in an interactive online designer, and a large yearly print catalog. Typical duties included complex layer masking, maintaining a consistent corrected color on fabrics so garments match across the brand, detailed adjustment of skin tones, hair masking, and artifact removal. Upon the completion of each style I created droplets to batch process folders to their according outlet, either to the Marketing or Web developers. Also assisted on product photo shoots working with the photographer to approve lighting levels and product angles to ensure the best foundation for the images before the editing stage.

As my Freelance contract expanded my duties have included animation and video editing for multiple internal corporate projects, as well as creating vector artwork for the large online design image pool.

--- Natural Cloud Cover by Mish Michaels // Freelance Designer

May 2012 - Feb 2013 (+ present where necessary)
naturalcloudcover.com

I was approached by Boston Meteorologist Mish Michaels (CBS, The Weather Channel) in the spring of 2012 to assist with designing a weather themed organic clothing line for babies and young children. With just some rough sketches to go by I pulled out pieces of her original sketches and merged them with clean vector elements for a cohesive arrangement across each individual product.

This assignment quickly branched into other applications, including designing graphics for a large showroom booth to display the product line, repairing an entire catalogue of photos after crucial changes were made to the fabric colors & garment fitting, and the artwork & layout for a children's music album in the form of a 5 panel digipak. I was additionally responsible for all print collateral related to the project, being: business cards, feature sheets, product labels, note cards, and mailing labels.

In my first working position as a designer I assisted a small team of Graphic Layout Designers with marketing collateral for the real estate industry. This included direct mailings, postcards, catalogues, calendars, and business cards for agencies, as well as the individual real estate agents. After the housing market bubble burst in 2006 I spearheaded a new division within the business by offering my screenprinting knowledge to help the company serve a broader customer base.
